The New York University. The University has been renovated for the comseason, as will be seen by the following invitation cir-culated posterday :--

DRAM SIM—It gives me the greatest pleasure to be able to inferm the public and the friends of education that the deat on the New York University, has, by the efforts of its friends, been paid during the past year, and that the institution is now free from all encumbrance. The building has been completely renovated during the present vacation, and many additions made for the comfort of students. The fight decirous that the friends of the University should judge for themselves of the many improvements which have been unde, we will throw ones the building for inspection on Monday avening, Suprember 18, to all those who feel an interest in our future prosperity. Several distinguished gentlemen have singly consented to address the auditine on the large chasts.

We found the building as clean as possible, having been scoured painted and whitewashed from the ground to the upper story. The room of the Chancellor has been previded with new furniture, and smells as strong of paint and varnish as if it was opened last night for the first time since the building has existed. After an impose ion and examination of the different rooms, which gave general astification to the friends of the University, the company assembled in the large chapel. This room was crewded to overflowing, and the audience very fashionable and selfet. Bis Honey Mayor Westervelt presided, and upon the obstitorm were seated Chancellor Peuris, the Faculty of the University, Dr. Hutton, Dr. Cong, and in the company were lurch Mayor Westervelt presided, and upon the obstitorm were seated Chancellor Feuris the Faculty of the University, and the awneed of classical knowledge.

Dr. burnor was drat calle upon to address the meeting, who made a 'ew perticent remarks, congratulating the faculty upon the supericent remarks, congratulating the

The Season out of Toven.— The Fashion and beauty of the metropelis, wherever rusticating, will soon be "at home," in its own elegant domicil Oar blooming belies are zure, however, to bring back upon their checks a little of the "Duky livery of the burnished zun," it is the penalty they pay for renewed health and spirits. Thanks, however, to our friend Phalon, it is but a temporary infliction. His Paplan lotion removes the blemish almost as rapidly as the breaze removes the blemish almost as rapidly as the breaze removes the morning mist from the face of the waters. There is no mistale about this article; it is an unfailing remedy for sallowees, freezles, tan, pimples, roughess of the skin, and all blemishes that affect the complexion. Step into PHALON'S, at the 't Nicholas, and ask him to show you bradame Anna Thillon's enthusiastic letter on the subject. Also for sale by all the druggists and fancy stores in city and country.

Who was the Hannah, whose fichleness occasioned that exquisite little poem which Montgomery has inscribed "To the memory of her who is dear to me?" It tells a tale of youthful love, of trusting affection, suddenly and eternally blighted; and with such a brovity, such a simplicity, such a fervent, yet heart-broken earnestness, that we fear it must be true. Be this as it may, there is no doubt of the truth of the astonishing properties of Dr. GOURAUD'S Italian medicated soap, in ouring tan, pimples, freekles, roughness and all skin deformities. Poudre subtile uproots hair from all parts of the body. Liquid rouge, lily white, hir dye and resionative, at the old established Perfumery Depot, 67
